Forward-looking Statements and Other Notes

As announced on September 24, 2008, a holding company is scheduled to be established on February 16, 2009 through an equity transfer. The non-consolidated full-year forecast for the fiscal year ending July 2009 is not presented since it is difficult to reliably forecast the new holding company's operating results at this stage.

1. Results of Operations

(1) Fiscal Year Summary

During the 2008 fiscal year, which ended July 31, 2008, Japan's economy continued to recover at a moderate pace as strength in the corporate sector offset a continuation in sluggish household spending. Companies benefited from consistently strong exports to countries with emerging economies and resource-rich countries as well as from forward-looking capital expenditures. However, there was increasing downward pressure on the economy in the second half of the fiscal year because of several developments. The economy was impacted by financial market turmoil linked to the U.S. subprime loan problem, a rapid increase in the prices of crude oil and other natural resources, and a big drop in construction starts caused by enactment of Japan's amended Building Standards Law.

In the money-lending industry, the SFCG Group's operating environment was extremely difficult because of three major challenges: the risk of a severe credit crunch caused by the subprime loan crisis, as was illustrated by the Lehman Brothers problem; the risk of a steep downturn in Japan's real estate market; and risks associated with the enactment of Japan's amended Money Lending Business Control and Regulation Law.

In response to this difficult operating environment, the SFCG Group adopted an extremely conservative stance by making a substantial addition to the allowance for doubtful accounts. In addition, for the portfolio of SME loans, which is the core component of the SFCG Group's corporate financing business, group companies continue to place emphasis on loans secured by accounts receivable, real estate and other forms of collateral. Replacing existing loans with collateralized loans in order to minimize credit costs is a priority of ours.

The amended Money Lending Business Law was passed in December 2006 and officially announced. The provisions of this law are to become effective in stages over a period of about three and a half years. Amendments to this law will make our operating environment even more challenging. In particular, there will be a reduction in the maximum interest rate on loans that is prescribed by a law for investments, deposits, interest rates and other items.

Due to these factors, consolidated operating revenue was 136,401 million yen.

Performance by business segment was as follows.

① Corporate Financing and investment

In this segment, there was a gain of 19,095 million yen on the sale of investment in securities-operation as we sold a large volume of these securities. As a result, the group's balance of investments in securities-operation was 15,020 million yen at the end of the fiscal year. In the core SME loan business, credit costs increased to 32,187 million yen. This was the result of the adoption of stricter loan approval standards in response to the upcoming enactment of the amended Money Lending Business Law, the decision to switch to a conservative stance regarding additions to the allowance for doubtful accounts, and an addition to the allowance for losses on returned interest.

In the loan servicing business, Justice Servicer Co., Ltd. increased its balance of purchased receivables to about 1,300,000 million yen by purchasing the receivables of financial institutions that do not belong to the SFCG Group. The collection of these receivables is proceeding as planned, resulting in a good performance at this company.

The balance of commercial notes discounted decreased 88.3% to 3,612 million yen and loans to customers decreased 2.9% to 614,517 million yen. In total, the balance decreased 6.8% to 618,130 million yen.

Due to these activities, segment operating revenue increased 35.3% to 102,273 million yen and operating profit was down 45.6% to 17,253 million yen.

② Real Estate

The real estate segment represents mainly the rent guarantee business and the revitalization of existing residential buildings.

Subsidiary MAG, Inc., which is engaged primarily in the rent guarantee business, continued to increase the number of customers by conducting high-profile sales activities. In addition, there was growth in the number of registered real estate companies at MAGnet, the real estate information Web site operated by this company.

Subsidiary e-MAX Co., Ltd., which is engaged primarily in the revitalization of residential buildings, had to cope with challenging market conditions caused by the downturn in the existing housing market and the sharp increase in construction costs.

Segment operating revenue decreased 27.6% to 14,413 million yen and operating profit was down 40.2% to 1,888 million yen.

③ Sporting Goods Manufacturing and Sales

The main activities in this segment are the manufacture and sale of golf products, the sale of health food, and the manufacture and sale of food products.

Maruman & Co., Ltd., which sells golf products, performed generally in line with its business plan. Sales growth was due mainly to the success of the Conductor brand, which was introduced during fiscal 2008, and to strong sales in the flagship Majesty brand, where Maruman introduced an entirely remodeled lineup in May 2007. Majesty sales were higher outside Japan, mostly in South Korea, China and Southeast Asia.

At Maruman Bio Co., Ltd., which sells health food products, sales were sluggish because of generally negative conditions in Japan's health food market.

SATO FOODS INDUSTRIES CO., LTD., which manufactures and sells food products, became a consolidated subsidiary in fiscal 2008. The company was previously an equity-method affiliate. This company performed well in fiscal 2008, meeting the targets in its business plan.

Segment operating revenue increased 72.1% to 16,137 million yen and operating profit was up 223.6% to 1,760 million yen.

④ Others

Revenue in the others segment represents mainly the sale of PC-related products, outsourced software development, and outsourced call center operations.

Fiscal 2008 performance was lackluster in all of these businesses.

As a result, segment operating revenue decreased 27.7% to 3,576 million yen and there was an operating loss of 1,343 million yen, representing a 231.7% decline, from fiscal year 2007.

⑤ Outlook for Fiscal 2009

The outlook for the SFCG Group's operating environment is extremely challenging. In particular, there are three significant risks: the risk of a credit crunch caused by financial market turmoil triggered by the U.S. subprime loan problem; the risk of a downturn in Japan's real estate market; and risks associated with enactment of the provisions of the amended Money Lending Business Law, including a lower maximum lending rate.

We have established a conservative business plan for consolidated performance in fiscal 2009 based on the belief that these three risks will remain. Our forecast is for consolidated operating revenue of 101,000 million yen, operating profit of 20,000 million yen, recurring profit of 19,000 million yen and net income of 9,500 million yen.

(2) Financial Condition

(Assets, liabilities and net assets)

As of July 31, 2008, total assets were 750,470 million yen, 96,538 million yen less than at the end of fiscal 2007. Current assets decreased 59,308 million yen to 716,151 million yen mainly because of a decline in commercial notes bought. Non-current assets decreased 37,229 million yen to 34,319 million yen mainly because of a decline in investments in securities.

Liabilities decreased 112,456 million yen to 468,252 million yen mainly because of a decline in short-term borrowings.

Net assets decreased 15,919 million yen to 282,218 million yen mainly because of an increase in minority interests.

(Cash flows)

Cash flow from operating activities

Net cash provided by operating activities was 91,275 million yen compared with a negative cash flow of 265,522 million yen one year earlier. Cash was provided mainly by a net decrease in loans to customers.

Cash flow from investing activities

Net cash used provided by investing activities was 690 million yen compared with a negative cash flow of 24,538 million yen one year earlier. The positive cash flow was attributable mainly to a decrease in payments for the purchase of investments in affiliates.

Cash flow from financing activities

Net cash used in financing activities was 114,565 million yen compared with a positive cash flow of 268,954 million yen one year earlier. This was mainly the result of increases in repayments of short-term borrowings and long-term debt.

Notes:

1. Consolidated figures are used to calculate all indicators.
2. Market capitalization is calculated by multiplying the closing stock price at the end of each fiscal year by the number of shares outstanding (net of treasury stock) at the end of that fiscal year.
3. Cash flows are operating cash flows.
4. Interest-bearing liabilities are the sum of all liabilities shown on the consolidated balance sheet that bear interest.

(3) Fundamental Policy for Allocation of Earnings, and current and next FY dividends

SFCG places priority on the distribution of earnings to shareholders. Our policy is to pay a stable dividend that reflects operating results, the need for retained earnings to fund future business activities, and the need to strengthen the operating framework.

In previous years, we made a single dividend payment for each fiscal year. In fiscal 2008, we paid an interim dividend for the purpose of distributing earnings to shareholders with greater flexibility. We plan to pay a dividend of 300 yen per share applicable to fiscal 2008, the sum of interim and year-end payments of 150 yen each.

Retained earnings will be used to reinforce all aspects of operations and meet the expectations of all stakeholders. This includes actions to enhance and strengthen the base of operations and reinvestments in businesses in order to increase corporate value.

(4) Business and Other Risk

Risk factors

(1) Risk concerning lending rate regulations, etc.

1) Risk concerning reduction in maximum lending rate

The maximum lending rate for non-bank lenders in Japan is 29.2% per annum as prescribed in the Acceptance of Contributions, Money Deposits and Interest Law (the "Contributions Law"). In December 2006, Japan passed and announced the amended Money Lending Business Control and Regulation Law ("Money Lending Business Law" hereafter). The maximum lending rate prescribed by the Contributions Law is to fall from 29.2% to 20% about three years after the announcement of the amended law. In addition, tighter restrictions will be imposed, such as the termination of the deemed valid repayment system under the Money Lending Business Law. These revisions, including the reduction in the maximum interest rate for loans, may have a significant negative impact on the Group's performance.

2) Risk concerning demands for excess interest repayments

Article 1, Paragraph 1 of the Interest Rate Restriction Law makes invalid any portion of contractual interest on consumer loans that exceeds the maximum interest rate prescribed by this law (20% for principal of less than 100,000 yen, 18% for principal of at least 100,000 yen but less than 1 million yen, and 15% for principal of at least 1 million yen). However, Paragraph 2 of this article states that a borrower cannot demand the return of this excess interest (1) if the excess portion was paid voluntarily. Article 43 of the Money Lending Business Law states that if the written documents prescribed in this law's Article 17 are given to the borrower when the loan is extended and if the borrower voluntarily pays the excess portion as interest, and furthermore that (2) if the written documents prescribed in Article 18 of this law are given to the borrower immediately after a payment and if that payment is recognized as a payment in accordance with a contract with which the written documents prescribed in Article 17 of the law have been provided, that the excess interest portion will be recognized as a valid interest repayment irrespective of the provisions of Article 1, Paragraph 1 of the Interest Rate Restriction Law. Such repayments are called "deemed valid repayments." (hereafter, "deemed valid repayments" under the above regulations)

The contractual interest rates on loans currently offered by the SFCG Group (except certain loans) include interest rates that exceed the maximum lending rate prescribed by the Interest Rate Restriction Law. With regard to deemed valid repayments, where most litigation involves consumer loans, there has been a large volume of lawsuits in Japan demanding repayment of the portion of interest exceeding the maximum lending rate because of the failure of lenders to include all items required by the Money Lending Business Law in loan contracts and for other reasons. Japan's judicial system has adopted a strict interpretation when reaching judgments concerning the fulfillment of requirements needed for a deemed valid repayment. SME loans are the primary business of the SFCG Group. Therefore, the number and monetary amounts of demands for repayments of excess interest submitted to the SFCG Group are smaller than in the consumer finance industry. However, the Group has received demands for the return of excess interest and has repaid this interest based on court verdicts and settlements.

Due to the increase in demands for excess interest repayments in the money-lending industry, the Japanese Institute of Certified Public Accountants in October 2006 announced guidelines for the establishment by consumer finance companies of allowances for losses resulting from interest repayment claims. SFCG has established this allowance in accordance with the above guidelines.

Nevertheless, if actual interest repayments exceed the estimates used for determining this allowance, there could be an impact on the Group's performance.

(2) Risk concerning the allowance for doubtful accounts

The Group maintains an allowance for doubtful accounts with regard to loans to customers. However, actual loan losses may exceed the existing allowance due to a downturn in the economy, deterioration in the financial condition of borrowers, change in standards for posting the allowance, decline in the value of collateral, or other unforeseen events. In this case, the Group may record a loan loss. In addition, if the increase in interest repayment claims explained above causes money-lenders to adopt stricter credit approval standards, these standards could cause a deterioration in the financial condition of borrowers and result in unexpected loan losses. The Group has not established an allowance specifically for such events.

(3) Risk concerning fund procurement environment

The SFCG Group procures funds primarily through loans from financial institutions and by securitizing its assets. The Group may encounter a worsening in market conditions, such as an upturn in interest rates, difficulty in procuring funds due to a loss of confidence in the entire money-lending industry or the SFCG Group, or an increase in the cost of procuring funds. Any of these events could narrow the interest rate margin on the Group's loans to customers or prevent the Group from procuring funds required for its business operations, resulting in an impact on the Group's performance and financial condition.

(4) Risks concerning expansion to new business fields, changes in the product and service portfolio, and M&A and investments in other businesses

The SFCG Group plans to serve a larger number of loan customer segments as well as increase the balance of Shohkoh Revolving Loans to SMEs and the balance of loans secured by real estate and other collateral. In addition, the Group is considering the extension of operations to other business fields through its investment business and in other ways. However, these actions may not necessarily produce earnings as expected because of changes in the operating environment for businesses in which the Group has invested or the emergence of unexpected risks associated with expansion into other business fields. In some cases, the Group may not be able to recover its investments and loans. Furthermore, due to the expansion to other business fields, along with competition with other money lenders in the Group's existing SME loan business, the Group may become exposed to competition from companies in other fields that have more customers and resources than the Group. This may prevent the Group's risk management system and internal controls from functioning as in the past.

With regard to businesses acquired by the SFCG Group, there may be unexpected liabilities, expenses or goodwill amortization, and the Group may be required to post an impairment charge for investment securities.

The SGCG Group has used its investment business and other means to expand its business operations. Since there is no assurance that the Group can continue to grow in this manner, past performance is not necessarily an indication of future growth and earnings.

(5) Risk concerning decline in land prices

Through group member e-MAX and other companies, the Group is involved in the real estate business. In addition, the corporate financing business has a large volume of loans secured by real estate, and the Group plans to continue to extend these loans. If real estate prices in Japan decline, there may be a negative impact on the performance of the Group's real estate business. Furthermore, a decline in the value of real estate used as collateral for loans may have a negative impact on the Group's performance.

(6) Risks concerning the sporting goods manufacturing and sales business

SFCG, through group member Maruman & Co. and other companies, manufactures and sells sporting goods. An increase in competition or litigation resulting from the Group's infringement on the intellectual property of others may have a negative impact on the Group's performance. Moreover, since the Group manufactures and sells sporting goods in other countries, there is exposure to exchange rate risk, country risk and other risks associated with overseas operations.

(7) Risks concerning malfunctions of information or technological systems and networks

The SFCG Group relies on a variety of internal and external information and technological systems and networks to provide products and services to customers and manage its operations. These systems and networks are vulnerable to interruptions, delays, disruptions and other malfunctions due to human error, natural disasters, power interruptions, computer viruses and other events. Such problems could cause a suspension of the Group's business operations, a loss in customer trust or other problems that may have an impact on the Group's performance and financial condition.

(8) Risk concerning recruiting activities

The SFCG Group's business operations require many employees with skills in SME financing and other Group businesses as well as skill in marketing and other fields. However, the Group's employee turnover remains relatively high, partly due to the large number of experienced workers the Group recruits. If the Group is unable to recruit a sufficient number of employees with the proper training, there may be an impact on the Group's performance.

(9) Risk concerning changes in oversight and punishment by regulatory agencies and in laws and regulations

Many of the SFCG Group's businesses are subject to restrictions imposed by the Money Lending Business Law, Personal Information Protection Law and other laws and regulations. To prevent misconduct by its employees and others, the Group has systems to ensure compliance with laws and regulations and a system of internal controls. However, there is no assurance that these systems will function adequately. If the Group or one of its employees violates a law or regulation, the Group may receive an administrative punishment from a regulatory agency. In November 2005, SFCG was ordered to suspend business operations in its loan business.

In addition, a change or tightening in restrictions imposed on the Group due to a future revision or other change in laws may have a negative impact on the Group's performance.

2. The SFCG Group

The SFCG group of companies (SFCG and its associated companies) is made up of SFCG Co., Ltd., its parent company KE Holdings Co., Ltd., 137 subsidiaries and 5 affiliated companies. These companies are engaged mainly in corporate financing, investments, real estate, the manufacture and sale of sporting goods, food products and other items, the manufacture and sale of personal computer products, and IT system development and support services.

SFCG is engaged primarily in the oversight of group companies. Sales subsidiaries spun off from SFCG are engaged mainly in extending loans and discounting commercial notes for small and medium-sized enterprises (SME).

T-ZONE Holdings, Inc., which is registered on the JASDAQ market, oversees the activities of all affiliated companies engaged in the real estate business, manufacture and sale of sporting goods, food products and other items, and other businesses.

The SFCG Group's business activities and the relationships of SFCG and its associated companies with these activities are as follows.

3. Management Policies

(1) Fundamental Management Policy

Since starting operations in December 1978, SFCG has been guided by a corporate philosophy of extending financial support to assist in the revitalization of SMEs by meeting their demand for funds. To manage credit quality, our fundamental policy is to extend three types of credit: small loans, short-term loans and retail loans to end users. To translate this corporate philosophy and management policy into concrete actions, we have placed priority on fostering the development of our workforce by using our own training system.

We will continue to pursue innovation and improvements by upgrading expertise in extending credit to SMEs and adhering to our customers-first policy. We are committed to preserving a powerful operating base that can consistently meet the funding needs of SMEs as well as to enlarging the scope of our operations.

(2) Policy Regarding Reduction in Investment Unit

One trading unit (tangen) is 10 shares, a level that management believes is sufficient to enable investors to purchase SFCG shares with ease.

(3) Medium- and Long-Term Management Strategies

SFCG is currently executing a medium-term plan with the goals of raising non-consolidated recurring profit to an all-time high of 42 billion yen and consolidated recurring profit to a record high of 50 billion yen. The plan will end in the fiscal year ending in July 2011.

As was explained in the results of operations section, we believe that the SFCG Group's operating environment is becoming increasingly difficult. As a result, we established conservative business plans for fiscal 2007 and 2008. In addition, in the corporate financing business, the Group is building a sound loan portfolio, focusing resources on carefully selected business field, and further increasing collaboration among consolidated subsidiaries concerning business activities and human resources. The resulting improvement in the collective strengths of the SFCG Group will contribute to reaching the goals of the medium-term plan.

(4) Important Issues

1) Recruiting activities

SFCG must recruit talented sales personnel and other employees in order to achieve its medium- and long-term goals. We are hiring both new university graduates and experienced professionals, and further enhancing the training system for new employees.

2) Strict management of information

To comply with Japan's Personal Information Protection Law, which became effective in April 2005, we have conducted employee training and upgraded the security of our information systems. For some time, we have managed the use of personal computers by employees by conducting important operations on the SFCG intranet and restricting the use of computers linked to the Internet. Furthermore, we encrypt data and will further reinforce our information leak prevention systems in order to handle information with even greater safety.

3) The maximum lending rate issue

In December 2009, amendments to several laws governing the money-lending business in Japan are to become effective. Among the laws affected are the Law Concerning Control on Acceptance of Capital Contributions, Deposits and Interest, the Interest Rate Restriction Law and the Money-Lending Business Control and Regulation Law. SFCG will maintain an operating framework capable of complying with these laws and taking appropriate actions.

6) Other significant policies in the preparation of financial statements	(c) Hedging policy The Group enters into derivative financial transactions in accordance with the Group's internal rules to reduce its exposure to market risks from fluctuations in interest rates and foreign currency exchange rates.	(c) Hedging policy Same as on the left.
	(d) Assessing the effectiveness of hedge transactions Hedge effectiveness is determined by comparing cumulative changes in cash flows from the hedging instrument with those from risks hedged	(d) Assessing the effectiveness of hedge transactions Same as on the left.
	(a) Revenue recognition The Company recognizes interest income and fees from commercial notes bought and loans to customers on an accrual basis.	(a) Revenue recognition Same as on the left.
	(b) Accounting for consumption tax All amounts stated are exclusive of consumption and local taxes. The difference of suspense consumption tax paid less suspense consumption tax received is recorded in "other current liabilities," under "Current Liabilities."	(b) Accounting for consumption tax Same as on the left.
	(c) Application of the consolidated tax system Certain consolidated subsidiaries use the Consolidated Tax System.	(c) Application of the consolidated tax system Same as on the left.
	5. Valuation of assets and liabilities of consolidated subsidiary	The full portion of assets and liabilities of consolidated subsidiaries is marked to fair value.	Same as on the left.
	6. Amortization of goodwill	Goodwill is amortized over five years by the straight-line method. Small amounts are amortized lump sum in the year in which they are recognized.	Same as on the left.
7. Scope of cash and cash equivalents in consolidated statements of cash flows	For the purpose of consolidated statements of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents consist of vault cash, deposits that can be withdrawn on demand, and short-term investments with original maturities of three months or less, that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and present insignificant risk of change in value.	Same as on the left.

Changes in Significant Accounting Policies in the Preparation of Consolidated Financial Statements

Fiscal year ended July 2007 (August 1, 2006—July 31, 2007)	Fiscal year ended July 2008 (August 1, 2007—July 31, 2008)
Allowance for loss on returned goods unsold Effective from the current consolidated fiscal year, consolidated subsidiaries provide an allowance for returned goods unsold. In prior periods, consolidated subsidiaries deducted returned goods unsold as accrued from gross sales. However, following the spin off of the International Division and Special Products Division on October 1, 2006, it became possible to reasonably estimate future returned goods unsold based on customer profiles, and the shortening of the new products cycle. Accordingly, in view of the increasing importance of returned goods unsold, and to more precisely account for period profit/loss, effective from the current consolidated fiscal year, consolidated subsidiaries provide an allowance equal to the gross profit on the estimated amount of returned goods unsold. The effect of the adoption of the new method was to increase gross profit, operating profit and recurring profit by ¥20 million each and to reduce income before income taxes by ¥169 million, compared to the amounts that would have been reported if the previous method had been applied consistently. Accounting Standards for Business Combinations and Divestitures Effective from the current consolidated fiscal year, the Company has adopted the “Accounting Standard for Business Combinations” (BAC Statement of Opinion, October 31, 2003), “Accounting Standard for Business Divestitures” (ASBJ Statement No. 7, December 27, 2005), and “Guidance on Accounting Standards for Business Combinations and Divestitures” (ASBJ Guidance No. 10, December 27, 2005) of the Accounting Standards Board of Japan. Change in method of depreciation of property and equipment In compliance with the fiscal 2007 revision of the Corporation Tax Law (Partial Revision of Income Tax Law, Law No. 6, March 30, 2007) and the Cabinet Order (Cabinet Order No. 83 of March 30, 2007) for the partial revision of the Corporation Tax Law Enforcement Guidance, depreciation on property and equipment acquired on and after April 1, 2007 is computed in accordance with the revised Corporation Tax Law. The adoption of the new depreciation method will have insignificant effect on the Company’s profit/loss.	_____ _____ _____

Revision of Practical Guidelines on Accounting Standards for Financial Instruments Effective from the current consolidated fiscal year, the Company has adopted the revised "Practical Guidelines on Accounting Standards for Financial Instruments" (Accounting Practice Committee Statement No.14 lastly modified on October 20, 2006). Accordingly, the company has reversed certain amounts, which were previously recognized in Valuation Difference on Other Securities, Minority Interests, and Current and Non-current Deferred Tax Liabilities in accordance with the Practical Guidelines prior to this revision. As a result, the balances have been reduced by ¥6,666 million in Valuation Difference on Available-for-sale Securities, ¥3,349 in Valuation Difference on Other Securities, ¥519 million in Minority Interests, ¥571 million in Current Deferred Tax Liabilities, and ¥2,225 million in Non-current Deferred Tax Liabilities.	Amortization of Goodwill and Adjusting Account for Investments in Equity-method Affiliates. In prior periods, goodwill and adjusting account for investments in equity-method affiliates were amortized over a period of five years using the straight-line method. Effective from the current consolidated fiscal year, the Company amortizes goodwill over a reasonable period not exceeding 20 years. The method of amortization was changed because the realization of benefits of investments, etc. often takes more than five years. The effect of this change was to increase operating profit by ¥248 million and increase ordinary profit and income before taxes by ¥408 million each, compared with the amounts that would have been reported if the previous method had been applied consistently.

1) Description and purpose of transactions The Company and its consolidated subsidiaries are using interest rate caps, interest rate swaps, and interest rate swap options for the purpose of fixing the impact on interest expenses by an increase of the interest rate in future. Accompanying such derivative transactions, the Company applies the accounting for hedges. See the Section of Significant Accounting Policies in the Preparation of Consolidated Financial Statements for details about the accounting for hedges, hedging instruments, and risks hedged.	1) Description and purpose of transactions Same as on the left.
2) Policy of transactions As a policy of the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries, using of derivative transactions should be limited to the purpose of hedging the volatility risk in the interest rates or foreign currency rates, while no derivative dealing for speculation purposes is allowed.	2) Policy of transactions Same as on the left.
3) Risks regarding transactions In general, derivative transactions may mainly involve market risks regarding losses caused by fluctuations of the interest rates or foreign currency rates, and credit risks regarding losses caused by contractual defaults due to bankruptcy or other difficulties of a related party of the transactions. In the case of the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries, there is no exposure to such credit risks, since we have dealings only with financial institutions and securities companies with a high credit rating. With regard to interest rates caps, our risk is limited to the premium paid at the time of closing.	3) Risks regarding transactions Same as on the left.
4) Risk management systems With regard to the management of derivative transactions, the Company's treasury department and, partially, some subsidiaries' administration departments are responsible to this. Though there is no specific internal regulation regarding such transactions, every transaction including closings and renewal of contracts is executed in accordance with the general approval and authority regulations.	4) Risk management systems Same as on the left.

Establishment of Holding Company by Transfer of Stock

On September 24, 2008, the Company's board of directors approved a resolution to use the stock transfer method to establish a holding company to be called Q and Company Co., Ltd. (tentative) following the receipt of approval by shareholders and completion of other required formalities.

1. Scheme for establishing the holding company

If approval is received at the shareholders meeting to be held in late October 2008, SGCG will use the transfer of stock to establish a Holding Company on February 16, 2009.

When the stock transfer takes place, shareholders listed in the shareholders register at the close of business on January 31, 2009 the last business day before the stock transfer date, will receive 10 share of common stock of the holding company for each share of SFCG stock.

2. Timetable for stock transfer

September 24, 2008:	Board of Directors resolution to transfer stock
October 24, 2008 (tentative):	Approval of stock transfer at shareholders meeting
February 9, 2009 (tentative):	Termination of exchange listing of SFCG stock
February 16, 2009 (tentative):	Transfer of stock (listing of the holding company)
Same day:	Transfer of stock (registration of establishment of the holding company)

This timetable may be revised if required by events that occur during the procedures for establishing the Holding Company.

3. Stock transfer ratio

	Q and Company Co., Ltd.	SFCG Co., Ltd.
Stock transfer ratio	10	1

1) Shareholders will receive 10 shares of the holding company common stock for each SFCG share.

2) The Holding Company will use the tangen (trading unit)

	system with 100 shares as one trading unit. 3) Basis for determining stock transfer ratio. This stock transfer will use the transfer of only the stock of SFCG to create a single parent company that will own all SFCG stock. Consequently, the shareholder composition of the holding company will be the same as for SFCG immediately prior to the transfer. In addition, the holding company will have a trading unit of 100 shares compared with the current trading unit of 10 shares at SFCG. Since the highest priority of SFCG is to protect the interests of its shareholders, SFCG shareholders will receive 10 shares of holding company stock for each share of SFCG stock. 4) Third-party calculation results and methods There was no third-party calculation for the reason explained in item 3) above. 4. Payment upon transfer of shares There will be no transfer payment associated with the transfer of shares. 5. Item concerning exchange listing of Holding Company The holding company plans to apply for a listing on the Tokyo Stock Exchange. Although the listing date will be determined in accordance with Tokyo Stock Exchange rules and other items, the holding company plans to list its shares on February 16, 2009, the planned date of the stock transfer. Due to the stock transfer, SFCG plans to terminate the Tokyo Stock Exchange listing for its common stock after the close of trading on February 9, 2009. 6.
