Section D - Risks:
D.2	Key Information on the key risks that are specific to the Issuer:	The following is a summary of the key risks relating to the Issuer: Weak oil and gas prices: Oil prices continued to be low throughout 2015 and are forecast to remain depressed in the near future. This has had a severe, direct impact on the energy sector and has led, indirectly, to a softening of the housing market in Alberta. A failure to manage this risk could have an adverse effect on the Issuer's results of operations and financial position. Anti-Money Laundering (AML), anti-terrorist financing, anti-bribery and anti-corruption: The Issuer is subject to a highly complex and dynamic set of anti-money laundering, anti-terrorist financing, and anti-bribery and anti-corruption (collectively, AML) laws, regulations and expectations across the multiple jurisdictions in which it operates. These requirements are of critical importance to members of the international financial community, law enforcement agencies and regulatory bodies. The regulatory landscape for AML practices remains in a state of rapid change in response to globalization, proliferation of technologies to conduct financial transactions, and new and changing money laundering and terrorist financing strategies. The scope of AML activities continues to expand with evolving criminal activities, such as tax evasion, human trafficking, bribery, and corruption. Money laundering, terrorist financing, and, increasingly, bribery and corruption pose significant potential risks for RBC. The Issuer's reputation is at risk with regulators, clients and other stakeholders in the event of AML related incidence, particularly in light of the current regulatory environment. The regulatory tolerance for major AML Program failures is low as demonstrated by recent penalties and enforcement actions. High levels of Canadian household debt: Canadian household debt remains elevated as persistently low interest rates continue to fuel strong home sales, supporting home prices and limiting moderation in mortgage credit growth. The risks surrounding elevated credit balances largely stem from households' continued ability to manage existing debt repayments when interest rates rise and a greater share of disposable income is needed to make payments. Additional risk stems from the potential for high household debt to amplify the impact of an external shock to the Canadian economy. The combination of increasing unemployment, rising interest rates and a downturn in real estate markets would pose a risk to the credit quality of the Issuer's retail lending portfolio and may negatively affect the Issuer. Cybersecurity: The Issuer leverages advancements in technology to support its business model and enhance the experience of its clients on a global basis. As a result, the Issuer is exposed to risks related to cybersecurity and the increasing sophistication of cyber-attacks in the marketplace. Attacks in the industry are often focused on compromising sensitive data for inappropriate use or disrupting business operations. Such an attack could compromise the Issuer's confidential information as well as that of its clients and third parties with whom it interacts and may result in negative

		consequences for the Issuer including remediation costs, loss of revenue, additional regulatory scrutiny, litigation and reputational damage, all of which could adversely impact its ability to make payments and/or deliveries in respect of the Notes. Exposure to more volatile sectors: The Issuer's wholesale loan growth has been strong in recent years, largely driven by Capital Markets. Demand for lending related to commercial real estate and leveraged financing has been particularly strong. In the event of significant economic deterioration, this may have an adverse effect on the Issuer's results of operations and financial condition. Credit Risk: Credit risk is the risk of loss associated with an obligor's potential inability or unwillingness to fulfil its contractual obligations. Credit risk may arise directly from the risk of default of a primary obligor of the Issuer (e.g. issuer, debtor, counterparty, borrower or policyholder), or indirectly from a secondary obligor of the Issuer (e.g. guarantor or reinsurer). Credit risk includes counterparty credit risk from both trading and non-trading activities. The failure to effectively manage credit risk across all the Issuer's products, services and activities can have a direct, immediate and material impact on the Issuer's earnings and reputation. Market Risk: Market risk is defined to be the impact of market prices upon the financial condition of the Issuer. This includes potential gains or losses due to changes in market determined variables such as interest rates, credit spreads, equity prices, commodity prices, foreign exchange rates and implied volatilities. Most of the market risks that have a direct impact on the Issuer's earnings results from the Issuer's trading activities, where it acts primarily as a market maker. Liquidity and Funding Risk: Liquidity and funding risk (liquidity risk) is the risk that the Issuer may be unable to generate or obtain sufficient cash or its equivalent in a timely and cost-effective manner to meet its commitments as they come due (including the Notes). The nature of banking services inherently exposes the Issuer to various types of liquidity risk. The most common sources of liquidity risk arise from mismatches in the timing and value of cash inflows and outflows, both from on- and off-balance sheet exposures. As the Issuer's core funding comprises capital, longer-term wholesale liabilities and a diversified pool of personal and, to a lesser extent, commercial and institutional deposits, a lowering of the Issuer's credit ratings may have potentially adverse consequences for the Issuer's funding capacity or access to capital markets, may affect its ability, and the cost, to enter into normal course derivative or hedging transactions and may require it to post additional collateral under certain contracts, any of which may have an adverse effect on its results of operations and financial condition.
D.3	Key Information on the key risks that are specified to the Notes:	The following is a summary of the key risks that are specific to the Notes: Withholding Tax: The Notes may be subject to withholding taxes in circumstances in which the Issuer is not obliged to make gross up payments and this would result in holders receiving less interest than expected and could significantly adversely affect their return on the Notes.

		The Secondary market: Notes may have not established trading market when issued, and one may never develop, or may be illiquid. In such case, investors may not be able to sell their Notes easily or at favourable prices. Exchange rate rises and exchange controls: The investment of investors whose financial activities are denominated in a currency other than the Specified Currency of the Notes may be adversely affected by changes in exchange rates or currency appreciation, or by the imposition of exchange controls. Change of law: A future change in the laws of administrative practice of the governing law of the Notes affects conditions drafted on the basis of such law or practice prior to the relevant change(s) and could materially adversely impact the value of the Notes. Modifications to Conditions: The conditions of the Notes contain provisions which may permit their modification without the consent of all investors. Canadian resolution power: The Notes may be subject to effective write-off or write-down under current Canadian resolution powers. Issue specific summary [Payments in Euro: If the Specified Currency is unavailable on the foreign exchange markets due to circumstances beyond its control, the Issuer will be entitled to satisfy its obligations in respect of payment on the Notes by making payment in Euro on the basis of the spot exchange rate (the "Euro FX Rate") or in its absence, a substitute rate determined by the Issuer or its Calculation Agent in its discretion. The Euro FX Rate or any such substitute rate may be such that the resulting Euro amount is zero and in such event no amount in Euro will be payable.] [Fixed Rate Notes: Investment in Fixed Rate Note involves the risk that subsequent changes in market interest rates may adversely affect the value of the Fixed Rate Notes.] [Issuer Calls: An optional redemption feature exercisable at the option of the Issuer may reduce the return on investment provided by a Note compared to the return that would have been achieved had the Note been redeemed at maturity and the Issuer may chose to redeem the Notes at times when prevailing interest rates may be relatively low.] [Fixed/Floating Rate Notes: Fixed/Floating Rate Notes may bear interest at a rate that the Issuer may elect to convert from a fixed rate to a floating rate, or from a floating rate to a fixed rate. The Issuer's ability to convert the interest rate will affect the secondary market for, and the market value of, the Notes since the Issuer may be expected to convert the rate when it is likely to produce a lower overall cost of borrowing. If the Issuer converts from a fixed rate to a floating rate, the spread on the Fixed/Floating Rate Notes may be less favourable than prevailing spreads on comparable floating rate notes tied to the same reference rate. In addition, the new floating rate at any time may be lower than the rates on the Issuer's other

		Notes. If the Issuer converts from a floating rate to a fixed rate, the fixed rate may be lower than the prevailing rates on its other Notes.] [Renminbi Notes: Securities denominated in Renminbi are subject to additional risks; Renminbi is not freely convertible or transferable and there are significant restrictions on remittance of Renminbi into and out of the People's Republic of China (excluding Hong Kong, Macao Special Administrative Region of the People's Republic of China and Taiwan) (the "PRC") which may adversely affect the liquidity of Notes denominated in Renminbi; there is only limited availability of Renminbi outside the PRC, which may affect the liquidity of such Notes and the Issuer's ability to source Renminbi outside the PRC to service such Notes; if the Issuer is unable to source Renminbi, it may pay holders of such Notes in U.S. dollars; payments in respect of Notes denominated in Renminbi will only be made to investors in the manner specified under the relevant terms and conditions.]
Section E – Offer:
E.2b	Reasons for Offer and Use of Proceeds:	The net proceeds of the issue of the Notes will be used by the Issuer for general funding purposes or used by the Issuer and/or its affiliates for hedging the Notes. If, in respect of any particular issue, there is a particular identified use of proceeds, this will be stated in the applicable Final Terms. Issue specific summary [The net proceeds after the issue of the Notes will be applied by the Issuer for [●].]

Any [Dealer/Manager] and its affiliates may also have engaged, and may in the future engage, in investment banking and/or commercial banking transactions with, and may perform other services for the Issuer and its affiliates in the ordinary course of business. [Other than as mentioned above and save for [•],]/[Not Applicable:] so far as the Issuer is aware, no person involved in the offer of the Notes has an interest material to the offer, including conflicting interests.]
