Description of the transaction

Strategic rationale

Financial impact

The New BZ is a very compelling story

Summary

A strategically compelling transaction

Increased presence in Poland, an attractive market, with significant growth potential, that fits very well in Santander's business portfolio

- Further potential to grow in a stable, underpenetrated and large market that Santander knows well

Improved critical mass: clear top 3 market position, with a highly complementary business mix

- Achieve market share close to 10%
- The new entity will have a strong balance sheet
 - Stable funding profile (L/D of 90%^(A))
 - Strong capitalisation pro-forma (2012E total capital of 14.7%, core capital of 12.2%)

3

Significant cost and revenue synergies, leveraging on Santander's group best practices

- Improve efficiency and eliminate duplications
- Productivity enhancement by combining complementary networks

(A) Net Loans to Deposits. 84% adjusted for CHF 1,5bn of funding provided by KBC

1 Increased presence in Poland

Key Cost Synergies Drivers

- Potential to improve operating efficiency by leveraging Santander Group's and BZ WBK's capabilities and best practices:
 - Apply Santander's cost management best practices to reduce marketing and administrative expenses
 - Leverage Santander Group's economies of scale (e.g. joint purchasing)
 - Optimization of combined branch network
 - One single IT platform
 - Benefit from Santander Group's global units to improve cost efficiencies

Expected efficiency improvements
by 2015:

PLN 322m
before tax

(ca. 12% of the combined 2011PF cost base)

Significant synergy potential: revenues

KB market share below “natural market level” in corporate and SMEs

Source: Company data

Key Revenue Synergies Drivers

Potential to leverage on BZ WBK best practices to exploit revenues opportunities in segments currently under-penetrated:

- Insurance & asset management exploitation
 - Potential to increase insurance productivity
 - Leverage BZ WBK Asset Management business to increase market share and pricing levels
- Cross-selling opportunities
- Enhanced pricing policy and product mix
- FX income improvement through increase in KB trading income

Expected productivity improvements by 2015:

PLN 114m
before tax

(ca. % 2 of the combined 2011PF revenue base)

After synergies, there would still be room for improvement due to the “market power” of the combined KB and BZ

Summary

Summary

30

The merger of BZ WBK with Kredyt Bank has a strong rationale...

- ✓ Consistency with Santander's strategy to increase weight of high growth core markets as Poland
- ✓ Improved critical mass: creation of the 3rd largest Polish bank and positioning of BZ WBK among the end-game winners in a fragmented market
- ✓ Good complementarity between both franchises: creation of a well-balanced diversified commercial bank as a result of Kredyt Bank's retail focus
- ✓ Significant opportunity for growth and enhanced profitability: strong synergy potential from combining BZ WBK and Kredyt Bank by eliminating duplications and leveraging on Santander's best practices
- ✓ For Santander the transaction will be EPS and value accretive; with an attractive ROI; and almost capital neutral
- ✓ The combined entity will be a unique investment opportunity in terms of scale, positioning, profitability, upside potential and higher liquid stock with a proven track record and attractive valuation
