

Figure 4: Infill Drill Section at KKM showing continuity of the northern mineralised surfaces, with high grade shoots within a lower grade halo, and the development of stacked horizons in the southern zone even though grades and widths are not as strong.